Hope in the power of young people

By Laura Bittner
Interim Department Head

Recently I was asked the question, “What gives you hope?” In a time filled with endless challenge and ongoing uncertainty, hope can seem in short supply. However, as I pondered the question posed to me, the answer was easy. I find hope in the power of young people.

Youth have served as an ongoing source of hope throughout my adult life, but particularly during the past few months. I have been inspired by their resiliency, strength, humor, creativity, insightfulness, and dedication. Recently hope has come from attending their

The College of Agricultural, Consumer and Environmental Sciences is an engine for economic and community development in New Mexico, improving the lives of New Mexicans through academic, research, and extension programs. New Mexico 4-H is happy to send you this educational material. These services are financed jointly by the county, state, and federal governments. The Cooperative Extension Service is represented in every county in the state by a staff of local agents in agriculture and resource development, family and consumer sciences, and 4-H youth development work.

Leaderline is a quarterly newsletter for New Mexico volunteer leaders providing 4-H news of statewide interest. Tax dollars support distribution of Leaderline to enrolled New Mexico 4-H leaders through the following issues: January/February/March (1st issue); April/May/June (2nd issue); July/August/September (3rd issue); and October/November/December (4th issue).

New Mexico 4-H Adult Forum 2020 Workshops

*By Cheryl Butterfield
State 4-H Agent*

Save the date for November 7, 2020, for these New Mexico 4-H Adult Forum workshops:

You Want Me To Do What? Helpful Hints, Tools, And Tips For The Volunteer Horse Show Manager - Jason Turner, Extension Horse Specialist

‘You want me to do what?’ might be the response you get when asking a novice or seasoned horse club leader to step up and provide leadership to manage a youth horse show. This response might stem from a lack of experience and/or confidence, or it might be the reply of a horse show veteran with a few bad experiences. In either case the job still has to be done, and in most cases it is done by volunteers. The presenters will utilize a mixture of lecture, “what if” scenarios, and discussion activities to teach participants key points for hosting a successful show. In addition to discussing how to set a detailed time-line for “To Do” lists on the road to horse show day, participants will gain insight on where to find volunteers, what motivates them, and then how to match volunteers to show management jobs best suited to their individual nature.

Engaging Youth Through Social Media Science Videos - Andrea Stapp, Chaves County 4-H Agent

With the screeching halt of face to face programming, we have had to develop new ways to virtually engage youth in 4-H programming. Learn how to create simple science videos to post on social media and continue encouraging youth to learn by doing. Learn how to create a short video and post it to social media.

Oral Reasons - Zane Webster, San Juan County 4-H Agent

Developing a better understanding of oral reasons.

Using 4-H To Hack Your Kids' Education - Frannie Miller, Assistant Professor, Ag Econ And Ag Business

How-to guide to utilize 4H programs to infuse critical thinking and creativity into an educational system. An interactive discussion on what works, what fails, and how we can increase educational synergy. Increase awareness of how 4H projects, and agricultural education, can be used to improve educational outcomes, and how we can do this in our over scheduled, overwhelmed, overwrought lives!

Exploring Leadership - Cindy Grooms, 4-H Leader, Doña Ana, And 4-H Youth

Become familiar with the Leadership project books, discover new leadership activities teen leaders can present to younger members and help your teen leaders grow their own leadership skills as you explore helping your older members become teen leaders.

Be A Snacking Super Hero - Cindy Grooms, 4-H Leader, Doña Ana County

The Super Snacking project is a great project for younger 4-H members. This workshop will provide project meeting plans for 8 weeks of project meeting – either in the typical group project meeting format or in the new-way virtual learning format. Participants will get to help make and sample easy-to-make snacks.

Addressing Racism Is Part Of 4-H Citizenship: Why Are We Afraid To Talk About It? – Barbara Chamberlin, Assist. Director/Professor, Innovative Media Research And Extension

One of eight essential pillars of youth development in 4-H is providing an inclusive environment for 4-Hers. 4-H Citizenship is the opportunity, right, and responsibility to contribute to shaping the world around you and provide services to others. These are core values in working with youth, and in the past year, racism has had heightened attention in the U.S., so much so that even mentioning the word, “racism” triggers deep emotions and responses in each of us. Learn from a 4-H club leader about how their club integrated discussions and actions about racism into their citizenship work, and how you can have productive, meaningful experiences for your youth.

Building Youth While Online – Cheryl Butterfield, Extension State 4-H Agent

What works and what doesn't... come learn some online basics and share ideas from your experiences.

Showing Cattle 101 – Katie Ramsey, 4-H Leader, Otero County

Show Cattle 101 will focus on the fundamentals of showing beef cattle in 4-H! Topics to be included are: nutrition, health, daily care, showmanship and opportunities beyond the showtime.

Selecting And Starting Your 4-H Futurity Horse – Sid Gordon, Extension Ag Agent And Heidi Crnkovic, Extension 4-H Agent, Otero County

Practical advice on selecting and starting prospects for 4-H horse projects specific to the NMSU 4-H Futurity and Versatility competitions.

4-H Leaders' Association Connection

Executive Board Positions are Open

By Cheryl Butterfield
State 4-H Agent

The NM 4-H Volunteer Leaders' Association Executive Board is accepting applications for open board positions in each district. If you are interested in serving on the board, please complete the application and submit by October 15. Board members serve a three-year term.

Duties Include:

- Plan annual New Mexico Adult Forum.
- Communicate with County 4-H Leader Associations in their district for the expansion, improvement, and promotion of 4-H youth and leader educational programs.
- Advise the State 4-H Program Leader on matters of program policy and future directions.

- Transact necessary business of the Association.

Applications can be found online at https://aces.nmsu.edu/4h/adult-volunteer-leaders.html#anchor\_31749, through your county extension office, or contact Cheryl at 575-799-0102. Applications are due by October 15.

Citizenship Washington Focus 2021

by Amy Zemler,
State 4-H Activities Specialist

Citizenship Washington Focus (CWF) is a leadership program for high school youth from across the country. Every summer, thousands of young people stay at the National 4-H Center, near Washington, D.C., to participate in this week long program. CWF is a program which provides opportunities for youth to broaden appreciation and practice respect for themselves and others in their world; increase individual commitment to citizen involvement; and understand the importance of civic and social responsibilities as they relate to the development of better citizens and leaders.

Time is provided for 4-H members to report accomplishments in 4-H to their representatives in the Washington, D.C., area as well as participate in sight-seeing trips. Registration is due October 15, 2020. Contact your County Extension Office at <http://aces.nmsu.edu/county> for more information about CWF.

Do you have a delegation who would like to go? Contact your county agent for information. At this time the National 4-H Center is planning to have CWF in 2021. If things change, the CWF program will contact us with that information.

4-H STEM Challenge: Mars Base Camp

By Peter Skelton
Professor/Director,
Extension and Research Youth
Agricultural Science Center
Las Vegas, NM

October is officially 4-H STEM Month! For the past 12 years, 4-H has developed fun, accessible challenges that shows kids how STEM skills can be applied to the world around them. This annual event seeks to spark an early youth interest in STEM and STEM careers.

The 4-H STEM Challenge, formerly known as 4-H National Youth Science Day (4-H NYSD), is the national rallying event for year-round 4-H STEM programming, bringing together youth, volunteers and educators from the nation's land-grant colleges and universities and the Cooperative Extension System. The 4-H STEM Challenge inspires kids everywhere to take an interest in science, technology, engineering and math through hands-on learning.

This year's 4-H STEM challenge is Mars Base Camp (<https://4-h.org/parents/4-h-stem-challenge/#!2020-challenge>). Designed by Google and the Virginia Cooperative Extension service, in collaboration with NASA, Mars Base Camp will explore the theme of sending a manned mission to Mars. The challenge activities will cover many aspects of such a mission – landing on Mars, exploring the surface of the planet and supporting human life on Mars. Youth will learn concepts ranging from computer science to geology, space agriculture, and more!

Mars Base Camp explores sending a mission to Mars and what it takes to sustain human life in space. Both educator and family-sized kits will include four activities:

- Landing Zone Surveyor is an unplugged activity where kids will attempt to land on Mars and discover features that are important for setting up a base camp.
- Red Planet Odyssey is an unplugged activity where kids will use engineering skills to build a vehicle that can explore the surface of Mars.
- Crop Curiosity is an unplugged activity where kids will learn about biology, environmental science, and agriculture to grow nutritionally efficient food on Mars.
- Insight from Mars is an activity that can be done unplugged or online that teaches kids to code and share a discovery they made on Mars using CS First and Scratch.

This is a great opportunity to interact with youth through an inquiry-based learning activity and to demonstrate that science is fun. The Mars Base Camp challenge is an engaging way for kids to learn about space missions and sustaining life in space. The kit is perfect for classrooms, afterschool programs, clubs and home-schooled groups, and is suitable for youth ages 8-14. The kit includes instructions for facilitators, and offers both low and no-tech options for events without internet access. This year there are two options for challenge kits: educator kits and family kits.

Educator kits include materials for 12 youth to participate in the STEM Challenge at the same time. Kits can be used in spaces where physical distancing and other safety precautions can be followed. Family-sized kits include materials for 1-4 youth to participate in the STEM Challenge at the same time, enabling families to participate from the comfort and safety of their own homes. You can purchase kits directly from the 4-H Mall for $20.95 (https://shop4-h.org/products/mars-base-camp-stem-challenge?\_ga=2.22955833.362454096.1597170357-986895263.1597170357). Be sure to plan your 4-H STEM challenge event today!

Opportunity4All National 4-H Week October 4-10, 2020

National 4-H Week is October 4-10, 2020

This year's National 4-H Week theme is Opportunity4All. Help us celebrate this important time of the year including the MARS Base Camp STEM Challenge, Spirit Day, and the TSC Paper Clover promotion! Take advantage of this whole month to highlight the remarkable 4-H youth in your communities and showcase the incredible experiences that 4-H offers young people.

You can access tools and resources on National's Marketing Online Resource Center at <https://www.4-h.org/MORC>. Sign in if you have a password and select Promotional Toolkits. There you will be able to click on the National 4-H Week toolkit. You can find logos, flyers, bookmarks, printable materials, images for emails, Facebook and Zoom meetings, Proclamation guides/template and press releases, plus Opportunity4All Positive Youth Development Resources (videos). These toolkits are designed to help you leverage National 4-H Week on social media, in your community and beyond.

nity gap between kids who have access to learning resources and mentors and those who do not.

Specifically the campaign seeks to:

1. Grow and provide 10 million kids with learning materials, experiences and activities across communities nationwide.
2. Build a 24/7 distance learning platform easily accessible to all kids and families.
3. Support social and emotional development for kids through mentoring opportunities.

During the forum, 4-H members answered questions including:

- What is the #1 thing adults need to know about your generation?
- What does the American Dream look like to you?
- What are the biggest challenges young people are facing in today's climate?
- What do you want to see adult leaders doing to make opportunity for all a reality?

If you have not yet done so, I encourage you to take 60 minutes and listen to young peoples' responses to these questions. If you are running low on hope, I promise this will help! Please visit <https://4-h.org/opportunity4all> for more information.

Self-Determination

By Newton McCarty

State 4-H Agent

Aggie Next Step Program and Youth Development

What is self-determination and why is it important in youth development? Self-determination is not singular in itself but comes about as one develops and increases their proficiency in a group of essential skills. As youth are introduced to and develop these skills, they become more aware of who they are such as their personal needs, strengths, weaknesses and self-confidence.

Largely, youth who are self-determined are self-initiated, self-directed and make things happen in their lives. Helping youth become self-determined builds their capacity to self-manage and increases independence and competency in making choices and decisions.

When working on self-determination it is best to break it down into bite size pieces. The Elements of Self-determination chart is a great visual with simple descriptions of the components of self-determination. If you are interested in additional information or activities for developing self-determination skills for youth, please contact me at jnewton3@nmsu.edu.
